Presidents' Message

Our sincere thanks go out to the Zinfandel Stompers and Gene Maurice's And That's Jazz, both of which provided terrific afternoons of great trad jazz and dancing in September and October, respectively. Thanks, also, to the jazz fans and dancers in attendance, since both events coincided with big games for local teams. (Go Giants!)

If you only attend NOJCNC meeting all year, make it this month. Not only is the featured band the phenomenal Bob Schulz' Frisco Jazz Band, but returning for a command performance as our very special guest will be the legendary Pat Yankee. She will perform during two of the featured-band breaks (so only one jam set this month).

On top of being wonderful entertainers, Pat and Bob Schulz are our strongest connection to the legacy of Turk Murphy and Lu Watters, without whom this club and many others like it would likely not exist. Let's honor that legacy and have a big turn out for them.

And on Dec. 16, take a break from holiday shopping to support a band that will seem familiar, but that has never been a featured band for NOJCNC: Neely's Rhythm Aces. The band, of course, is a smaller departure from Don Neely's Royal Society Jazz Orchestra with some of the same members, but a different line-up and style. Let's welcome them.

The NOJCNC music committee and board have finalized the band schedule for next year (mostly thanks to Tom Belmessieri) and we're very excited about the line up (see next page). Most importantly, the meetings in January and February (the annual Showcase of Bands) will be at the Danville Grange hall instead of at Champa. Mark your calendars and reset the GPS.

The move is, in part, to have a more spacious venue for the Showcase, but also in response to members who have encouraged us to explore other venues. Thank you for the input; please let us know what you think. We'll include the line-up for the Showcase and a reminder of the venue change in the January / February newsletter.

On a personal note: After 32 years of great music, Bill Slessinger of the Joyful Noise Jazz Band is hanging up his horn this month. His last gig will be immediately following the NOJCNC meeting on Nov. 18, so feel free to stick around and help the group thank him.

Not to sound like a PBS pledge drive, but we're at the end of the year and we need all members to renew their NOJCNC membership for 2013. It's crucial that we get this taken care of early so we're able to continue bringing you great programming, er, bands, during the year.

Even if you can't always make the meetings, remember that you're investing in the future of trad jazz preservation.
